

TO MARRY MARCH 4.

This Is the Date Set for the Nuptials of Miss Anna Gould.

Rev. Dr. Paxton Will Make Her the Countess Castellane.

May Be a Private Ceremony by Archbishop Corrigan.

Anna Gould will be married to Count Castellane on March 4. It seems the one question to settle concerning the ceremony was the place, as the young people have been united in a desire to settle an early date.

It was natural that the Count should desire a grand wedding at St. Patrick's Cathedral, with all the show and pomp which attaches to the Church of Rome. It would have pleased him to have had society turn out in the great church.

There were two things, however, which militated against this. The Count's mother and brother, who have expressed an intention of being at the wedding, could not possibly arrive before Ash Wednesday, and a brilliant wedding in the Cathedral during Lent would be impossible. Miss Anna Gould's desire was to have a simple home wedding. Notwithstanding she has been of late years in the fashionable set, to a certain extent, she has never been able to wear out the effects of her early training, which left her when her father died an extremely domesticated and home-loving young woman.

So the Count, naturally enough, bowed to the wishes of the fiancée, and when the marriage takes place on March 4 it will be under the most favorable auspices, and probably there will not be a door in France unopened to her.

The Count expressed a desire to have not only his parents, but many of his friends at the wedding, but that was found to be impossible. When his mother, Mme. de Castellane, comes, with his brother, it will be her first visit to America. His father, the Marquis, is not able to undertake the long journey in winter weather.

Miss Anna Gould will have only two bridesmaids, her elder sister, who has been her special guardian under the terms of the late Jay Gould's will, and Miss Kitty Cameron, a daughter of Sir Roderick Cameron, in whose house the engagement was first made known and who is Miss Anna's most intimate friend.

As Miss Cameron was one of the party which made that now celebrated sentimental journey into Canada, which was the Count's golden opportunity for wooing, it is not wondered at that she takes more than a passing interest in the approaching ceremony.

Mr. George J. Gould, as the representative member of the family, will perform his part when he gives the bride away.

It is natural that the Count, coming from a leading family of France, and one which has always looked up to and recognized the sanction of that church as to want its ceremony, so it is likely that, under a special dispensation, Archbishop Corrigan will perform a private service on the morning of March 4. So far as is known, even by those most interested, it is probable the Count and his Countess will sail for Europe about April 1, in which event they will go direct to Paris, the scene of the bride's former triumph of a season or two ago, when she had taken her first step as a personage that the Prince Francis Joseph of Battenberg, who gave way to the ardent wooing of Count Talleyrand-Perigord. Neither, however, was successful in receiving more than passing favor in the eyes of the young American heiress.

The entire to Parisian society by the Countess de Castellane in the Spring will be under the most favorable auspices, and probably there will not be a door in France unopened to her.

WEED GIVES HIMSELF UP.

Held in $7,500 to Answer for the Death of Mamie Shannon.

Gilbert L. Weed, who at the Coroner's inquest yesterday was implicated in the death of Mamie Shannon, the pretty waitress at Dennett's restaurant in Brooklyn, gave himself up to-day at the office of his lawyers, Howe & Hummel, to Detective Sgt. Crowley.

Weed was taken at once to the Criminal Court Building and told by the District Attorney that he must furnish bonds in the sum of $7,500. He sent to H. O. Armour to go on his bond.

TO A CHICAGO GIRL.

The one who had given the name of Smith explained that they had attended a little dinner party in a lawyer's office on Nassau street, and ran from the office. They had drunk champagne and were confused.

The Court discharged them with a warning.

"For God's sake do not write anything about this," one of them pleaded with a reporter. "If the Judge—I mean my husband—hears of this it will be awful."

FEAR A HUSBAND'S WRATH.

Two Respectable Women Arrested for Intoxication.

Two handsomely dressed women, apparently about thirty years of age, were prisoners at the Tombs Police Court to-day. They wore expensive jewelry. Police Officer Thomas Blatterly found them intoxicated on Nassau street at 10 o'clock last night. This morning they gave the names of Carrie Smith and Clara Wilson.

Justice McMahon said he had received a letter from Mrs. Studwell, a Tombs missionary, declaring that the prisoners were respectable women, with husbands who are well known.

LOST IN A BIG CITY.

Henry Carey Still Searching for His Wife and Child.

Henry Carey, of 221 North Eleventh street, Philadelphia, called at Police Headquarters to-day in search of his handsome wife and three-year-old son, who mysteriously disappeared in this city on Feb. 2.

Mrs. Carey and her little boy arrived in New York on an afternoon train, intending to visit an aunt, Mrs. Kate Cannon, of 30 East Forty-sixth street.

During the trip Mrs. Carey lost her aunt's address, and in wandering about the street was directed to Police Headquarters. It was late at night and she was advised to apply at the Mulberry street station for lodging.

It was learned afterwards that she did not call at the station-house. After leaving Police Headquarters mother and child disappeared completely.

A general alarm was sent out the following Monday and the hospitals and police records of Brooklyn and Jersey City were searched in vain.

Meantime the husband visited all intermediate points between this city and Philadelphia, with no better results.

A TITLED VANDERBILT, TOO?

Miss Consuelo, Daughter of William K., and the Nobleman.

Rumor Says an Alliance Has Been Arranged Between Them.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt and her daughter Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, are going abroad at once. They will sail either Saturday or Wednesday. They were to have gone on the Teutonic yesterday, but plans were altered at the last moment because of the recent storm. The finest suit of rooms in the Hotel Continental in Paris has been secured for them from Saturday of this week.

Those who should know assert that there is no question that all arrangements have been completed for the betrothal of Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt with a young English nobleman of highest rank and grandest establishment, and that this will be announced very shortly after Mrs. Vanderbilt and her daughter reach the other side.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt is indirectly connected with the Yznaga family, the tie being that the first husband of her sister, Mrs. Tiffany, was Fernando Yznaga, who is a brother of the Duchess of Manchester, who was Consuelo Yznaga.

Another of Mr. Yznaga's sisters is Lady Lister Kaye, who was over here for a portion of the late summer for the first time for a number of years.

Sir John Lister Kaye was here also for a very brief period, and has recently repeated his visit. Whether or not this has any bearing on the question is not definitely known. The chatter is that beneath all this worldly wisdom lies a love tale of white-hot passion.

A young man, bearing an old family name, prefigured with a prominent Boston family surname, has been all devotion to Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, and she apparently was most happy in his attentions. This joyousness must now be relegated to the saddest of all—might have been. Though the relations of Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt are strained, and it is purely a matter of conjecture how much Mrs. Vanderbilt's allowance will be, Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, as the only daughter, will eventually fall heir to a colossal fortune.

She is the favorite child of Mrs. Vanderbilt, and the two are quite inseparable. Miss Vanderbilt has made a great many friends during her first season out. She is very unaffected and rather pretty, with tall, slight figure and dark eyes and hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt are also to sail Saturday for Europe. They had projected a series of splendid entertainments that would have extended over the interim prior to Lent, but owing to the sudden death from pneumonia of Mr. Vanderbilt's niece, Miss Margaret Shepard, they have been compelled to recall all invitations extended and defer indefinitely those intended for Lord and O. state they have received no communication from Mrs. Carey during the past month.
